

NAME: _____

DATE: _____

Inductive Grammar Chart
(Unit 5, page 52)

GRAMMAR. Indirect speech: imperatives

Look at these examples of direct and indirect speech.

Direct speech: Peter said, “Be careful if you go out during the storm.”

Indirect speech: Peter said to be careful if you go out during the storm.

They said, “Read the weather report.” → They said to read the weather report.

She says, “Don’t go out without a full tank of gas.” → She says not to go out without a full tank of gas.

FIGURE IT OUT . . .

Complete these grammar rules with direct speech or indirect speech.

1. Use quotation marks in _____.
2. In _____, the verb in an imperative becomes an infinitive.
3. Use not + an infinitive in negative statements in _____.

Look at these other examples of direct and indirect speech.

She told me, “Please call me when you get home.” → She asked me to call her when I get home.

FIGURE IT OUT . . .

Complete this grammar rule.

In the indirect speech example, call me changes to _____ and you changes to _____.